UC Merced

UC Merced is the system's newest campus, offering current and future students the opportunity to write the first chapter of an entirely new legacy. Before Merced was opened in 2005, the San Joaquin Valley was the most populated part of the state without a UC campus. The Merced campus is a destination all its own, yet still close to many major cities and natural resources: an hour north of Fresno, two hours south of Sacramento, two hours southeast of San Francisco and the Silicon Valley, and 90 minutes west of Yosemite National Park.
